

Sarah Preston is excited to be making her debut with the Towne Street Theatre company. She has recently starred in a series of independent short films and made an appearance on MTV's Awkward. She is currently studying at the Chad McCord Actors Studio and has also trained with the Upright Citizens Brigade. Sarah is a trained dancer in many dance styles. Originally from South Florida, she now lives in Los Angeles where she enjoys shooting analogue film photography and working on writing her own film projects.
